"Day after day, in the temple courts and from house to house, they never stopped teaching and proclaiming the good news that Jesus is the Messiah." Acts 5 v 42

How are we to "do" Mission in the years ahead?

What are the effective trends in Mission today?

How do we meet the new challenges facing Mission?

Come and find out the answers and bring your questions to

"The Changing Face of Mission"

Please bring your questions so we can help. We prefer written questions in advance so that a full and considered answer can be given. Email your questions to mission@cornerstonehytheurc.co.uk. In the afternoon if time permits the panel will also take questions from the floor.

A free buffet style lunch is included but must be pre-booked by 1st March and during the intervals tea and coffee is available. We want everyone to feel welcome and no financial contribution is being asked for.

If you would like to assist with the cost of this event, a box for donations will be available by the door.

The Changing Face of Mission

Saturday
10th March 2018

Andrew Chard

European director of AIM (Africa Inland Mission). Andrew will be sharing "Five Key Global Trends" that are impacting Mission today. He and his wife Rachel spent 14 years in Tanzania as pioneer church planters with the last 6 years leading an international church planting team among an un-reached Muslim group.

Andrew has been published in "from Seed to Fruit" a practitioner's guide to Muslim church planting, holds an MA in Theology and an MBA from Warwick Business School. He is well placed to help us wrestle with Mission in the 21st century.

Bryan Knell

Author of "The Heart of the Church and Mission". With over 40 years in Missions, UK Director of Arab World Ministries for 16 years, founding coordinator of CRIB Christian Response to Islam in Britain for 15 years. John and Gwen Hall have been married for 51 years. John was ordained a Congregational minister in 1968 and served in 4 churches before retiring from pastoral ministry in 2009. He was leader of GEAR (Group for Evangelism and Renewal) in the URC during the 1990s and a member of the International Executive of ICCOWE (the International Charismatic Consultation On World Evangelisation) until 2012. John and Gwen's work with ICCOWE & SOMA led to the start of the Romans One Eleven Trust to share ministry between African and URC Churches. Gwen was administrator until 2012 and John director until 2014. John received his doctorate in Missiology in 2003 and has taught extensively in Ghana, Malawi, Uganda and Zambia.

Chris Copley

(formerly Chris Vivian) is a retired URC minister with a passion for mission and evangelism throughout her 35-year ministry. She served for 24 years on the GEAR committee and has worked with Romans One Eleven

Trust for 12 years, currently being its administrator. She has ministered in Uganda on 8 visits.
